

Animal Attire

The month of September brought along 'Animal Day' for the students of Pre School & Pre Primary. The little ones draped in the attires of monkeys, lions and elephants brought the jungle live on stage. Some of them even attested their presence with peppy props in hands or wearing handy masks. It was really pleasurable watching petite hands adorning marvellous rabbit masks and head bands. Their excitement had no bounds when they wore them all the way to their home.

The little ones enjoyed playing sizzling sound games in which they were made to recognize assorted animal jingles.

Such fun 'n' activity days are the most 'sought after' by the tiny tots. Their excitement is worth noticeable when they involve themselves in such feats. The school endeavours to make the following lines of Marty Robin true.

“One learns by doing, not by learning to do.”
